Preface

Purpose of Booklet

As a close partner with schools, the Curriculum Development Institute (CDI) has systematically organised a series of Professional Development Programmes (PDPs) on curriculum development for principals and teachers. The purposes are to help them achieve personal learning goals, gain professional knowledge, develop pedagogical and leadership skills suited to the needs of their students and contexts of their schools.

To enable schools to plan and co-ordinate the professional development of teachers at the school level for the 2010/11 school year, CDI has prepared this booklet on Professional Development Programmes for Secondary School Principals and Teachers. The details are also available at the website: <http://www.edb.gov.hk/cd/pdp/sec>. The programme information on the web will be revised or updated in response to changing needs and circumstances.

Based on the changes in the education arena, schools may have already identified school-based capacity building needs for their teachers. We hope that schools could make full use of these courses organised by CDI in raising the awareness and knowledge of the participating teachers. Upon the return to their schools, they may integrate what they learnt with their school-based professional development programmes in professional sharing and promoting the capacity building among colleagues.

Design & Focus of Programmes

The design of the programmes aims to sustain the curriculum reform introduced since 2001/02. As informed by the Survey on the Curriculum Reform 2008, the programmes have therefore considered the areas requiring greater emphasis, further capacity building, and schools' responses received from the latest questionnaire survey on training needs of the New Senior Secondary (NSS) Curriculum and other channels. The PDPs to be offered in this school year focus on the following:

- i) Teacher preparation for NSS subjects in four identified areas, namely: (1) Understanding and Interpreting the Curriculum; (2) Assessing Student Learning; (3) Learning and Teaching Strategies; and (4) Enriching Knowledge;
- ii) Learning and teaching strategies especially those enhancing catering for learner diversity, promoting language and reading across the curriculum, deepening of strategies to promote using IT for interactive learning, generic skills, assessment for learning, other learning experiences/ student learning profile, managing curriculum interface issues, strengthening curriculum leadership and planning for effective implementation;

- iii) Thematic series related to Moral and Civic Education (e.g. “How to develop Students’ care for the School and Community?”) and National Education (e.g. “Guangdong – Hong Kong Integration”); and
- iv) Brief information in the Annex on student activities provided by different organisations which will facilitate schools’ early planning of student learning activities in the 2010/11 school year and the promotion of Life-wide Learning in schools.

Organisation of Booklet

PDPs in this booklet are organised under four broad categories: Programmes on (A) New Senior Secondary (NSS) Curriculum and Assessment; (B) Management, Leadership and Planning; (C) Sustaining Curriculum and Assessment Reform, and (D) Induction, all of which include a variety of programmes on the curriculum emphases, learning and teaching strategies for the various curriculum areas and courses for specific groups of school personnel (e.g. new panel chairpersons, new teachers, librarians, laboratory technicians). Each programme is indicated in its title whether it is a “new”, “re-run” (programme content identical or with minor adaptations) or “refreshed” (programme content with more than half updates) course. Principals, teachers and other members of staff may quickly identify programmes that may interest them through searching the first three columns of the tables which indicate the theme, the target group and the title of the programmes.

The professional development opportunities offered by the programmes are desirably complemented by teachers’ learning by doing in real classroom and school settings, sharing among teachers in schools’ staff development activities and other forms of professional learning, as well as collaborative learning amongst teachers in schools as learning communities.

Feedback

CDI would take into consideration feedback from principals and teachers on courses delivered this year and continue to design appropriate programmes to meet the needs in the coming years. All views and suggestions from principals and teachers are welcome and they may be sent to:
